DRAINAGE PLAN PROVES TO BE SUCCESS

Since Explosion of Dynamite Water In Butcher Pen Pond Has Been Slowly Falling.

The drainage plan of Mayor Bliss, for a large quantity of dynamite in Butcher Pen pond to drain that place seems to have proven a success, and it is expected that it will be the means of finally getting rid of this most undesirable pond of water.

Last night the pond showed a decrease in depth of fully eighteen inches, thus showing that the water is running off through the immense hole that was blown in the earth, extending down fully sixty feet deep. It is believed that the explosion opened up the strata beneath the pond to such an extent that the water can now pass through into a subterranean passage and thus be carried off.

Considering the immense size of the pond the fact that the water declined 18 inches in twelve hours, shows that there must be a large opening through which it can now flow.

I GOT THE FIRST PLATE.

Johnny Had It Clutched, but He Had to Let Go.

President Roosevelt, on one of his hunting tours in the Adirondacks, spent a very long day in restless pursuit of big game. At his urgent request the guide conducted the party to the nearest inn the wilderness afforded.

Amusement was created in the presidential party when the chief executive, whose identity had been kept a secret, was given a seat at the family board. It was increased when huge portions of corned beef and cabbage were passed from the head of the table, where sat the host. The first plate to make its appearance was heaped very high. It reached a small boy and got no further. The president sighed to express his envy and disappointment.

"Johnny," exclaimed the host sharply, "that's for you; that's for the stranger."

Much to the amusement of all, the president seized the rim of the plate on one side, while Johnny held the other. There was a moment of doubt.

Then the president, softly and with a twinkle in his eye, but with inexorable decision, leaned over and spoke into the red, resentful face of the hungry boy:

"Johnny," he said, "let go."

Johnny let go—Success.

The Mayflower Compact.
During examination in American history in one of our big city schools the question was put, "What was the Mayflower compact?" This is the thoroughly logical reply of one good little American:

"The Mayflower and the Speedwell started together from England, and the Speedwell went to pieces and sunk, and they put all the people into the Mayflower, and so the Mayflower came packed."

How a Bee Gave Up Work.

On landing in Australia our hive bee industriously collected quantities of honey. Finding, however, that there was no winter such as we have in England, it gave up laying in stores. Its morals are corrupted, for it is no longer busy, and leads a butterfly life. —Nature Notes.

No Extension.

"Is the wind due east or due west today?" asked an evasive creditor by way of changing the subject of his debt.

"It's due now, and you'd better bustle to raise it," was the unfeeling reply.

His Defense.

The Count—You do me an injustice. I am not mercenary. The Heiress—No? The Count—No, I assure you. It is my creditors who are—New York Press.

A very honest man and a very good understanding may be deceived by a knave—Juniata.

Considerate.

"He pretends to love music, but he never asks me to sing."
"Perhaps that's his way of proving it."

There isn't anything in the whole world that a man knows as much about as a woman knows about dress. —Philadelphia Record.

TAGGART'S WIFE TOLD SPICY STORY

RACEY TALES ARE NARRATED IN COURT FOR EDIFICATION OF JUDGE TRYING DIVORCE CASE.

Some of the testimony given by Major Taggart in his noted divorce trial in Wooster, Ohio, is decidedly racy.

Stories that brought blushes to his cheeks were often told by his wife to company in their home and at dinner parties, according to the major. "I often took her to task for telling them," he said, "and on one occasion she told me to go out of the room until she finished."

Captain Taggart was asked to repeat some of these, that the court might judge of their character. He recited "The Dog's License," "Put in a Little Dash of Lavender" and several others in a similar vein. Then the judge called a halt, professing that he was satisfied.

Makes Claim of Virtue.

"I have always been true to my marriage vows," said Captain Taggart. "I knew nothing of Mrs. Taggart's being in the hospital until she wrote me after her discharge saying she had been there to have an operation performed."

Sentiment here seems to be with Captain Taggart if applause is an indication. Cheers and clapping of hands greeted a decision in the mayor's court this afternoon when the youth, Harry Rope, arrested for perjury on affidavit of Mrs. Taggart, was discharged. Rope is the witness who swore that he saw her buy three beers and give one to each of the boys and drink a glass herself.

Drinking Soups Described.

Major Taggart told in detail how his wife had smoked cigarettes and drunk whiskey in the presence of the children and had told off-color stories along with Miss Anna Berry and Miss Yost, and certain officers. When the major had objected she had told him to step outside the room until she was through. The witness declared he told her that there was only one kind of house where women told such stories and smoked cigarettes and drank whiskey. Witness repeated obscene toasts that were given by Mrs. Taggart and Miss Berry when drinking in the presence of officers and the subjects of these toasts being the common expressions in the circle that visited his house. It was shown that when Lieutenant Fortesque, Captain Poore and others at Fort Leavenworth visited at his house there were many drinking bouts, and the spicy stories always followed the cocktails and highballs.

Witness said that Mrs. Taggart came to the Philippines after she had been in the Cincinnati hospital, but he never discussed the subject of her sickness with her.

Tells of Separation.

Witness said that Mrs. Taggart was on apparently friendly terms with all the women at Fort Leavenworth, but she was on intimate terms with Mrs. Poore, whom the witness forbade her to go with, and that she was quite friendly with Mrs. Ryther, whose husband is one of the correspondents.

Wife Played Church Organ.

The major under the rapid-fire cross examination of Judge Snysor, brought out the facts that when he married his wife she was a member of the Episcopal church and that for two years at Fort Thomas she played the organ at church services, but that he never attended the church, as he didn't consider the chaplain a preacher.

An Indian Legend.

There was once a man who lived in the forest far from the rest of his tribe. He lost his wife and was very lonely. After awhile he made a wooden doll about her size, dressed it in the clothes she used to wear and set it up in front of the fireplace. Then he felt better. So a year passed away. One night he came home, and there was his wife sitting in a chair in place of the doll. She spoke to him, saying, "The Great Spirit felt sorry for you, so he let me come back to see you, but you must never touch me, for if you do you will kill me." They lived thus together for a twelvemonth, but one night he attempted to clasp her in his arms. Behold, he was holding a wooden doll! She did not come to life again, and he was very unhappy ever after.

DOWIE'S DICTUM A CHILD A YEAR

ZION'S LEADER ORDERS A BOAST IN THE BIRTH RATE—SOME ZIONIST RULES.

A new baby every year for every family in Zion's husky cohorts—over time work for the stork—away with race suicide!

That's the latest ukase by Apostle John Alexander Dowie, for the ruler of the north shore colony, near Chicago, wants to see the birth rate figures go soaring skyward in a way that will make the statisticians sit up and sharpen their pencils, says the Jacksonville News. But in the same breath the master of Zion sets forth another command that is held by many of the young women in his flock to be a contradiction, for it is commanded that there shall be no kissing—nor hugging—in courtship.

Apostle Dowie always has expressed great admiration for President Roosevelt, and has opposed race suicide, though he himself has been the father of but two children. Now, however, he has taken a practical step toward putting his ideas into effect and has just issued a formal order that henceforth every couple married in his flock shall lead a little lamb to the baptismal font every twelve months.

New Schools Next Week.

It is Dr. Dowie's hope that from now on when one wants to know the size of a Zionist's family all that is necessary will be to know how many years the Dowieite has been married. The members of the Christian Catholic Church community at Zion City, following the command of the first apostle in all things, say they will not "shoo the stork away," and in a few years every household is expected to be filled with laughing, tumbling cherubs, arranged chronologically according to a step ladder plan, with equal new schools and an addition to the Sunday school room at the big tabernacle.

The first apostle's new order is part of a supervision which he recently began to exercise over marital affairs in his church. The first step was in the form of an order that all faithful members of Zion who marry must have the chief's written consent, else the marriage would not be recognized by the church. Another juncture was taken to marriage as reformed by first of the peace would be considered morally correct.

No Kiss Till Marriage.

But now the swains and blushing maidens are under still further restrictions, this time relating to their lovemaking. "Never kiss until after the wedding ceremony is over," says the apostle. And that means that young couples are not to kiss "just for fun" or for himself, but the rule goes further. So Zion is to be a race of un-kissed, after the example set by young Gladstone Dowie.

Hugging is against the rules, too, under exactly the same limitations.

Now, these two embargoes wait for them to be observed rigidly by the young people of the new suburb, nevertheless have raised a few doubts.

"For how in the world is a young man ever to get a young woman interested in him enough to become engaged at all?" said a blooming Zion girl.

How to Judge Beer

POINTS OF EXCELLENCE

"BRILLIANCY"—Clarity and polish, proving perfect brewing and fermentation.

"CLEAN" TASTE—The absence of a disagreeable foreign or "after-taste," proving scrupulous cleanliness during the brewing process.

"SOLID, CREAMY FOAM"—An infallible indication of body, age and excellence of brewing material.

"PURITY"—Impossible to find in most bottled beers, because their preservation is gained through chemical adulteration.

"FLAVOR"—The distinctive individual characteristic of any beverage; as peculiar to it alone as its color is to the cucumber. A delicious and pronounced hop aroma is the highest standard.

A. B. C.

Is the ONLY beer that possesses all of these essential qualifications. Its purity is absolutely guaranteed by its makers. It is the ONLY beer that can be so guaranteed, because it is the ONLY beer bottled exclusively at the brewery.
